Missed Opportunities by Jason T Carter

A twenty-first century poet wrote, "Look, if you had one shot or one opportunity to seize everything you ever wanted in one moment, would you capture it or just let it slip?"

Regret is not a fun feeling. Many regret past actions, and sinful behaviors should cause a type of regret that leads to repentance and reconciliation with God. With God's grace and mercy covering our sins, we can move beyond regret to serve Him faithfully, learning from our mistakes and helping others to avoid the same.

There is another type of regret, however, that is more difficult to move beyond: the regret of not doing something. F. Scott Fitzgerald wrote, "Our lives are defined by opportunities, even the ones we miss." We can allow our missed opportunities to paralyze us, weighing us down with regret, or we can use them as motivation to act the next time God gives us an opportunity.

The greatest thing you can do for anyone is to teach them about Christ and the salvation He offers. Have you ever missed an opportunity to tell someone about the power of His blood? I have, and I regret it. But I cannot allow that regret to prevent me from grabbing the next chance I have to lead someone to the truth.

The apostle Paul wrote, "Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith"(Galatians 6:10). The famous Chinese-American architect I. M. Pei advised, "Stop worrying about missed opportunities and start looking for new ones." Where will you start looking? Who will you share the gospel with this week?

MISSIONARY UPDATE: VELAPHI MELANGANI

(March 2017 Progress Report, part 3)

Food

We are very happy to inform you that the rains this year have brought enough food in all parts of the country. Maize and millet have started to mature and farmers will begin their harvest at the end of this month especially for early planted crops. So, from Mid-May 2017, all Christians in the rural areas will no longer need food aid. We thank the Lord!

Leadership Lessons

During the month in review, we conducted a Bible Leadership workshop at Bulawayo Central Church of Christ, Selbourne Park in Bulawayo. It was attended by 21 men from various congregations in the city. Velaphi presented a lesson on homiletics. We began last year to present these leadership lessons.

Conclusion

"Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the Word of the Lord may run swiftly and be glorified, just as it is with you." II Thess 3:1.

- Velaphi
