I Will Arise and Go

The story of the Prodigal Son is a wonderful parable filled with both sadness and joy. The numerous lessons taught in this wonderful message are without a doubt as applicable today as they have ever been. It is so sad when so many lose their way and never return. This fact is even more tragic when we consider the great love of the Father and the sad indifference, and even animosity of those who are supposed to be concerned and rejoice when the wayward comes home, but do not.

The story may be summarized for us in the following summation:

The Downward Course: The son was...

Restless: "Father, give me..." We too can become unsatisfied, unappreciative, and unhappy. We must remember what the Bible says about contentment (Luke 3:14; Philippians 4:11; 1 Timothy 6:8; Hebrews 13:5) or we too could find ourselves lost.

Rebellious: "...gathered all together, journeyed to a far country..." When one becomes restless they often rebel! We must remember that the Father is faithful and we need to commit our souls to Him (1 Peter 4:19). When one rebels against the Father we separate ourselves from him (Isaiah 59:1-2).

Reveled: "...wasted his possessions with reckless living." His brother said he "devoured your livelihood with harlots" (v 30). The devil makes sin look so enticing but the fact is sin leads to only one destination.

Ruined: "...spent all, ... and no one gave him anything." Sin will leave us in a destitute state. "Depart from me, ye that work iniquity" (Matthew 7:23).

The Upward Course: The son...

Reflected: "...he came to himself." Living a life of sin, apart from the Father, is crazy! No one in his or her right mind does so. And no one will come back to the Father until they realize this truth." Sometimes it takes us hitting rock bottom before we can realize our own foolishness.

Repented: Repentance is a change of heart, brought on by a change of mind, which leads to a change of life. The son came to himself and began to move in an upward direction.

Resolves: "I will arise and go..." Resolution naturally follows repentance. We must be resolved to do whatever we need to do to make our lives right with the Father. "Therefore, brethren, be even more diligent to make your call and election sure, for if you do these things you will never stumble" (2 Peter 1:10).

The Homeward Course: The son...

Returns: "And he arose and came to his father..." Nothing changes until the son actually gets up and goes home. Notice, the Father didn't go searching for the rebellious son. He did however stand at the end of the road every day hoping for his sons return. Many of us need to get up and go do what we need to in order to be whole again.

Receives: The Father runs to greet and receive his son. How great is the Father's love (John 3:16).

Recovers: "Bring out the best robe and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand and sandals on his feet." Although the son had wasted what he had been given the Father has plenty more and will replenish what we have wasted if we will only come home.

Finally, there is rejoicing! As happy as the Father is the older son does not share in the festivities. We must guard against such a heart as this. This is the over-arching message of the text. Luke 15:1-2 tells us "Then all the tax collectors and the sinners drew near to Him to hear Him. And the Pharisees and scribes complained, saying, "This Man receives sinners and eats with them." The lesson here is for the faithful to rejoice and receive the sinner who has come home.

If you are a prodigal son, please come home. The Father is waiting to receive you! If you are at home in the family of God rejoice when the wayward returns. Above all else, obey God and do his will. One day Jesus will return or you will die. Are you ready for that day to come? Be faithful [Tim]
