Family News and Notes

We are glad that you were able to join us this morning in worship to God. Please let us know if you have questions we can answer and also let us know how we can serve you!

VBS & Class Announcements

A VBS work day for decorating & final preparations will be held Saturday, June 7th, 10 am-1 pm.

There is a signup sheet for VBS snacks on the bulletin board in the lobby. Please sign up. See Leah Baker or Joann Bond with any questions.

There are VBS invitations in the foyer that you can hand-deliver or mail. Please invite your friends and family to come June 8th-12th. The fun and learning begins Sunday during normal Bible classes and continues Monday thru Thursday evenings at 7 pm.

The Summer quarter for Bible classes begins June 1st. The Jr/Sr high classes will have combined classes at the house on Wednesday nights through the summer.

Things to Know/Remember

- * Daryl Denham is looking for adult volunteers drive the youth group to Monday night youth rallies this summer. There is a signup sheet in the foyer.
- * We will be painting the barn on May 31. See Wayne Baker for details.

MINISTRY of ENCOURAGEMENT

Team 4 (Bond, M Carter, A/S Carter, Denham, Rohner, Tuttle) is scheduled.

For We All Stumble in Many Things: A Mistake or a Mis-Take?

You'll recognize those famous words from James 3:2. "For we all stumble in many things..." The older I get, the more I can identify with them.

I recently literally stumbled as I tried to step down to the floor as the invitation song began. No real harm and nothing broken, but it made for quite a distraction at just the wrong time in front of many witnesses. Upon reflection, it might be one way that the Lord is trying to help me with Romans 12:3.

During graduation exercises this year, I let two pages of the script stick together, totally missing a fine young man's presentation of two prestigious awards. Thankfully, a colleague noticed my error and set me up to correct it. I'm told the audience never even knew, but I know that confession is good for the soul (James 5:16-20).

After graduation and lunch, I came back to the office to work for a while. I put some canned colas into the fridge—except for the one that I dropped. As it exploded it wet two walls, a file cabinet, a fire extinguisher, two umbrellas, and me. And after all that, there were still two swallows left in the can. It took half an hour to clean up.

One of our students has been named Travis all his young life. He still doesn't know why I often call him "Justin." Neither do I. Of course that brings us back to James 3:2, "For we all stumble in many things. If anyone does not stumble in word, he is a perfect man, able also to bridle the whole body." I have no illusions of personal perfection.

On Mother's Day, we led worship at the nursing home. On my way out the front, I removed my coat due to the warm weather. Immediately, a friend said to me, "Let me be your mother. Tuck in your shirt." Part of the shirttail had escaped, and I had no clue.

My work computer is well-used, having been with me for more years than it should. Even after all our time and conversations, it still does what I tell it to do rather than what I really want to do. Problem is that the new one will do just the same.

I still mow the lawn and trim the hedges. I count it a major blessing to still have all my fingers and toes. The one finger does look a bit funny, but it works OK.

I'm told that I will be switching to an iPhone soon. When I hang up on you, don't answer, and/or dial you by mistake, please don't be surprised. All that—and worse—is bound to happen.

I haven't yet left the house wearing different colored socks or two different shoes, but I assume that might happen soon. When it does, I hope I'll find it as entertaining as others will. I shouldn't be the only one who misses the fun.

"For we all stumble in many things." As that keeps us from being as boring as we might otherwise be, it also makes us grateful to God and others who graciously forgive.

Notes from Zimbabwe Missionary, Velaphi Mlangeni

Youth Group

In Kariba, we met hundreds of WBS students. They were complaining that they had last received their Lessons from the United States six months ago. We just wish we had enough study material at our Office, in Bulawayo, we would send more lessons to these students.

Zimbabwe is approaching its economic turnaround as evidenced by recent good rainy season and renewed co-operation from the international community. Many rural farmers are now starting to harvest their corn (staple food), millet and sorghum. The livestock also looks healthy and some rivers have enough water. People everywhere are thankful to God! The International Monetary Fund will reopen its Zimbabwe Office in Harare soon and the European Union has indicated plans to strengthen its relationship with Zimbabwe. Some micro and macro factors also seem positive.
